Neighbour Lawn Envy now at Level 10.

SECTION 1 – WHAT MAKES REEL MOWING DIFFERENT?

A cleaner cut. A healthier lawn.

Most rotary mowers hack and tear the grass blade. A reel mower shears it – cleanly, the same way scissors work. Less stress on the plant means faster recovery, denser growth, and a lawn that gets visibly better with every cut.

Fewer yellow or brown tips after mowing

More defined stripes – golf course quality

Lawn thickens up with consistent mowing

Quieter, more enjoyable mowing routine

"If you've ever admired the stripes on a football field or a golf fairway – reel mowing is what creates that finish."

SECTION 2 – IS YOUR LAWN A GOOD FIT?

GOOD FIT	MAY NOT BE A FIT
Level or gently sloped lawn	Mostly Tall Fescue or native prairie grasses
Kentucky Bluegrass, Perennial Ryegrass, or Fine Fescue	Mowing only every 7–10 days
Mowing at least once per week (twice is better)	Significant bumps, dips, or uneven grading
Suburban or acreage lawns in BC, Ontario, or Alberta	Heavily thatched or neglected lawn

Good news for Canadian homeowners: Most suburban and acreage lawns in BC, Ontario, and Alberta qualify. Bluegrass and Ryegrass blends are the most common grass types in these provinces – and both thrive with reel mowing.

First Few Mows	After a Season	Maintenance
Cleaner edges, no ragged brown tips. You'll notice the difference on the first cut.	Your lawn will visibly thicken. Consistent clean cuts encourage denser growth.	Backlap the blades once or twice a season (paste included). Grease the chain. Under an hour total.

One honest note: Reel mowers work best when you mow regularly. Let the grass get too long between cuts and you'll be fighting the machine. Stay on schedule and it's effortless.

BLADE COUNT: WHICH SHOULD YOU CHOOSE?

S-Series: 6 or 9-blade — choose at order. Z-Series: 9 or 12-blade — choose at order. Plan to mow at least twice a week or every third day for best results.

6-Blade	9-Blade	12-Blade
Mowing 2× per week at standard height. Good for most suburban Canadian lawns. S-Series option.	S-Series & Z-Series option. Mow every 2–3 days. Finer finish and tighter cut than 6-blade at the same height.	Z-Series option. Daily or every-other-day mowing. Tennis court finish. Requires well-prepped, level lawn.
